The Sevenstones Inn

Lower Town St Martins Isles of Scilly

LOCATION

St Martins, one of four inhabited "off-islands", offers the potential purchaser an environment and lifestyle few places can match, with virtually no road traffic, crime or pollution. During the summer there are frequent boat services to the other islands, and even in the winter there is a regular daily service to the main island, St Mary's.

Situated within Lower Town, The Sevenstones Inn occupies an enviable position with a southerly aspect over what is arguably one of the finest views on Scilly, from the Eastern Isles around to the northern end of Tresco. Elevated above the island's "main road", the property is only a short walk from the small Post Office and general store, school and St Martins Hotel. In addition, the island boasts an "astroturf" tennis court/bowling green with pavilion, and a new community centre is currently being planned.

DESCRIPTION

The Sevenstones Inn, named after the infamous rocks to the east of the islands, was built in 1974 of traditional block construction with granite elevations. More recently the property was extended, incorporating an enlarged commercial kitchen. In addition, a large patio area has been built at the front of the Inn, to take full advantage of the property's superb setting.

The owner's accommodation, "Saith Carreg" (meaning Seven Stones in Welsh), comprises a double fronted granite cottage, with adjoining single fronted cottage, connected internally. The property is of traditional design, having pointed granite elevations with hardwood windows. Although the house was upgraded within the past ten years, it has been neglected more recently and requires general refurbishment to bring it to a modern standard.

In addition, the property includes a converted detached granite barn of great character, situated between the owner's house and the public house.

The property ceased trading in July 2012, and is now offered for sale. Furniture, fixtures and fittings are available by separate negotiation.

In summary, a unique business and residential opportunity, with scope to create a profitable business. Viewing highly recommended.
